VINCENT YOUMANS'S VIOLENT DEATH.

LIVING NINETY-FOUR YEARS TO BE KILLED BY A TRAIN-HIS SONS WELL-KNOWN MEN.

Vincent Youmans, of Mount Vernon, the father of Professor Edward L. Youmans, who died recently, was instantly killed yesterday morning while crossing the railroad track in that town. He was on his way home from the Post-Office when the 10 o'clock Boston Express of the New-York and New-Haven line swept around the sharp curve near the station and struck him before he was aware of its approach. Notwithstanding the fact that his life was dashed out of him in an instant, his body was not mutilated. His left leg only was broken below the knee by the force of the blow which hurled his body over to the down-track, where it was picked up and carried to the house of his daughter Eliza. Adjoining it is the home of one of his sons, William J. Youmans. The inquest will be held by Coroner Tice to-day and the funeral arrangements will be perfected this afternoon.

Mr. Youmans had reached the ripe old age of ninety-four and was still alert in mind and in his movements. He was a fine example of the rugged American stock, being essentially one of the plain people. He was born in Coeymans, Albany County, in this State. in 1794, but when he was six months old his parents moved to Greenfield, near Saratoga Here he worked upon his father's farm antil he was sixteen years old, when he was apprenticed to a carriage-maker in Sheffield, Mass, I lis master proved to be a hard one and his lot was far more unsatisfactory than that of most of the apprentices of those days. During his five years of service he was permitted to receive only three months' "schooling." This deprivation bred in him the firm resolve that his children should suffer no similar neglect if it lay in his power to guard against it. How well he fulfiilled this resolution, their subsequent careers have testified.

After he was out of his indentures he made until he was sixteen years old, when he was ap-testified.

After he was out of his indentures he made Saratoga his home, and was married in early life to Catherine Schofield, also a native of Albany County. To them were born five children, four of whom were boys. The family moved to Chester Hill, Mount Vernon, sixteen years ago and lived there until Mrs. Youmans received injuries from falling down stairs last autumn which terminated fatally after a week's illness,

Of their children the best known was Professor Edward L. Youmans, a writer on scientific subjects and the founder of "The Popular Science Monthly." In this work, however, as well as in all of the branches of his scientific pursuits and experiments, he had the active assistance and cooperation of his sister, Eliza A. Youmans, and also of his brother, W. J., who has since been the editor of the publication they used to manage jointly. The two remaining members of the family, Earl S. and Addison Youmans, are engaged in business at Winona, Minnesota.

NO CHANCE FOR A TURF CONGRESS.

EASTERN CLUBS DECLINE TO CO-OPERATE WITH THOSE OF THE WEST.

Racing in America is on too expensive a scale be governed by any such organization as this so-called Turf Congress. In that tight little Island on the other side of the Atlantic it may be quite feasible for a single jockey club to direct all turf matters. So it might be here if America were no larger than the state of New-York. But with race-tracks situated thousands of miles apart, the idea of a National circuit controlled by one general director in the form of a National Jockey Club is absurd. What Minneapolis and St. Paul expect to gain by sending delegates to the meeting at the St. James Hotel next Thursday it is impossible to conceive. They support what is called the Twin City Jockey Club, but how is New-York to be of service to the racing interests of Minnesota? The two big cities of that distant State might have racing every day in the year without interfering in the remotest degree with the sport east of the Alle-It is plain truth to say that the Eastern clubs care nothing whatever for an alliance with those of the West. The promoters of this so-called congressall Western men-have been unable to secure the slightest notice from the American and Coney Island Clubs, and it is extremely doubtful if the Monmouth Park and Brooklyn people can be persuaded to send delegates to their meeting. The failure to gain the co-operation of these rich and prosperous associations of New-York and New-Jersey signifies that the coming congress will accomplish nothing of importance to the racing interests of the East.

An amicable alliance of Eastern clubs is urgently demanded, in order that the troublesome qu dates may be settled to the satisfaction of each. Yet there is no prospect of such an arrangement. Each club will take what it can get, regardless of the opposition. It is said that if the New-York Jockey Club gives a meeting at the new Westchester track year it will have to race on Sundays, all other dates being claimed by the older clubs. The East for the East and the West for the West is one of the unwritten rules of racing. The country is broad enough for half a dozen big circuits. The number of horses increases annually to so great an extent that established tracks are overcrowded. New ones are building everywhere, East, West, North, And there's room enough for all. But the time is not ripe for an American Turf Congress to take

There are two highly important matters that ought to be attended to before the racing season of 1889 opens. First, the authority of the starter should be more clearly defined. A jockey is engaged at a salary more clearly defined. A lockey is engaged at a salary of $5,000 a year, with the privilege of accepting outside mounts. While riding an outsider he offends the starter and is set down for an indefinite period, not even being allowed to ride for his regular employer. Yet his salary must go on. This is a hardship of which all owners complain. Many of them demand relief from it. The second matter concerns the scale of weights, which is entirely too low. No reasonable objection to raising it can be advanced. Owners trainers, jockeys, and the general public agree on this point, yet the clubs refuse to act. Their position is untenable, Sooner or later the present scale must go.

CONGRATULATING MR. MORTON.

KIND AND CHEERING MESSAGES POURING IN FROM EVERY SIDE.

Vice-President-elect Levi P. Morton moved his family to his city home, at No. 85 Flfth-ave., from Rhinecliff yesterday, and appeared at his office for the first time since the day of the big Republican parade, a week ago last Saturday. Many of his friends and business associates called on him while he was down-town and offered their congratulations. Morton received a large card yesterday, on which was painted a paim leaf, and engrossed on it were the names of 200 ladies of Rhinebeck, who took this method of offering their congratulations. Mr. Morton has received many letters and telegrams of congratulation from every part of the United States, The following are a few of them:

The Republicans of Tacoma, the city of destiny, in mass-meeting assembled to-night, enthusiastically ratify your election and tender you our heartfail congratulations. A SCENE IN THE GILL-WOODHALL COMEDY. SOME OF THE RECOVERED SECURITIES SOLD BY AUCTION. A group of interested spectators assembled yester-ay noon at the Real Estate Exchange to watch the sale of a batch of coupons which once belonged to old John Gill, of this city, but were captured by Inspector Tarbridge, of Scotland Yard, when he arrested Alice Woodhall in London last May and brought her here on extradition papers sued out at the instance of the old man's children. The securities sold yester-day consisted of £40 in Bank of England notes and coupons of the following denominations: Eighteen coupons, a 20 florins, Hungarian Govern ment Bonds.

Four coupons, a $30, Elizabethtown, Lexington and lig Sandy Raliroad Company's Bonds.

Three coupons, a £10, South Australian Government Bonds, 1876. Three coupons, a 40 francs, Spanish Government Loan Bonds.

Loan Bonds.
Forty-one coupons, Bonds of Cape of Good Hope
Government Loan, viz.: 29 a £115s.; 4 a £410s. and 8 a £ 2 58.

Twenty-two coupons, Bonds of Argentine Republic, viz.: 3 a 75 pesos, 9 a 15 pesos, 7 a 7.50 pesos, 3 a 1.50 pesos.

These were surrendered by the Inspector to George H. Stowebridge, receiver of John Gill's estate. Peter F. Meyer began the sale at noon in the big room of the exchange and announced that the face value of the coupons amounted to $2,500. Finally, when of the coupons amounted to $2,500. Finally, when the bids had slowly mounted to $2,000, the property was knocked down to Cecil Campbell Higgins, who represented the judgment creditor, John J. Martin. He was appointed a committee of the person and estate of John Gill when he was adjudged a lunable in 1884. He sned the two Woodhall sisters and obtained a judgment of $80,000.

It is believed that the proceeds of yesterday's sale will eventually be paid over to him for the benefit of the heirs, though legal proceedings will be necessary to settle this point.

AN ENGINE COMPANT'S NEW QUARTERS

HANDSOME AND CONVENIENT ROOMS IN THE PLACE OF OLD AND DISMAL ONES.

The members of Engine Company No. 54 are highly elated over the prospect of soon taking possession of their handsome new house, No. 304 West Forty-seventh-st., which is now complete except for some little work to be done by the plumbers. The company has been for a year quartered in a dingy little ramshackle building in Forty-sixth-st. near Broadway, and a cheerless time it has had, too. The site of the new structure was occupied for many years by a fire gine house which was razed a year ago. seventy by twenty-five feet and is neight. The front part of the dormitory floor is partitioned off, giving Captain Cosgrove a cosey little room to himself. The second story will be used as a sitting and reading room and for the men's lockers. On the top floor supplies of feed for the horses and extra hose will be stored. When the company gets into the new house its apparatus will be greatly improved by the substitution of a four-wheeled tender in place of the old-fashioned two-wheeled eart now in use. A FACT.

Thousands are suffering with a torpid condition of the liver, yet do not know what is the matter with them from the fact the sluggish action of this giand is not necessarily attended with any local pain. Its distinguishing characteristics are usually found in depression of spirits. "the blues," accompanied with indigestion, constipation, headache. You will find Dr. Sanford's Liver Invigorator a reliable remedial agent, and by its use prevent chronic conditions.
